

This is further confirmed inferentially by the fact that Mr. Johnson has gone to great lengths to avoid being served with the subpoena and has still not been served, while Mr. Bischof was only served on December 9, 2019 after many weeks of likewise avoiding all service attempts.¹ Such conduct by these high ranking officials of the CNO entities is inexplicable except on the likelihood that they have important information that they do not wish to reveal at a deposition. Accordingly, the motion to quash is denied, and the deposition must go forward on a mutually agreeable date on or before December 31, 2019. However, because of the year-end activities in which the deponents would otherwise be engaged, the depositions may be conducted telephonically.

SO ORDERED.

JED S. RAKOFF, U.S.D.J.

¹ Mr. Bischof was served in Indiana. Although Mr. Johnson's evasion of service warrants the conclusion that he has been served de facto, such service must be deemed to have occurred in Indiana as well. Therefore, in the normal course, the application to quash would have to be made to the federal court in the District of Indiana. That court then could, in turn, refer the motion to this Court. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 45(f). However, given that all discovery in this case must be completed by December 31, 2019, the parties brought the motion to this Court's attention in order to obtain a swift ruling and appear to have acquiesced in this Court's deciding the motion.
